ANOTHER BOURBON FIGHT IS THREATENED OVER NEW RULES AND REGULATIONS

Governor Pinkham Credited With Being Allied With Movement Towards Calling a Ratification Meeting, Also L. L. McCandless and Will Miles—T. J. Ryan and M. C. Pacheco Opposed to the Proposed Meeting

PATRONAGE ROWS OF COUNTY COMMITTEE CONSIDERABLY CURTAILED BY PROPOSAL

Arrangement is Made for the Expulsion from the Democratic Party of Any Refractory Member—Territorial Central Committee Given Full Power Over Jobs Not Coming Under Direct Jurisdiction of the Board of Supervisors

Another difficulty may beset the path of the Democrats of Hawaii as a consequence of the new rules and regulations for the party adopted by the territorial central Democratic committee, now published and being circulated.

A movement is on foot, one in which Governor Pinkham is credited with being allied, to cause a convention to be called for the ratification of these rules. L. L. McCandless' name is also used as one in sympathy with the movement, and Will Miles, secretary of the mayor, openly declares that such a convention should be called at once.

T. J. Ryan and M. C. Pacheco, the latter chairman of the territorial central Democratic committee, are opposed to the convention suggestion, and do not hesitate to say so, or to give their reasons for opposing the movement.

The rules are lengthy—about 7500 words long. They go specifically into the rights and duties of the precinct clubs, the county and territorial central committees. In the matter of patronage, the central committee is given full power to make endorsements and recommendations in all appointive positions in the territory, except the jobs which are dealt out by the board of supervisors. In the latter cases, and the latter cases alone, the county committees may make endorsements.

This question of patronage is set out at some length, and a provision is made by which an officer, who willfully refuses, neglects or ignores the advice and assistance of the proper committee, when making appointments, can be expelled from the party.

Committee Duties Defined.

The following is quoted from the rules on the subject of patronage: "It shall be the duty of the territorial committee to make recommendations to the president of the United States and his cabinet officers of such members of the Democratic party in the territory as shall be deemed by the committee to be best qualified for the respective offices. It being preferable to only make one recommendation for each office, if more than one person is recommended for the same office, such recommendations shall be stated as first choice, second choice, etc. The committee may adopt by majority vote such rules as may be found necessary in the matter of patronage, but after a rule shall have been adopted and entered of record, a two-thirds vote of the entire membership of the committee shall be required to amend or repeal it. The territorial committee shall likewise make recommendations to the governor and territorial officers as to appointments to office under them.

"It shall be the duty of the respective county committees to make recommendations for appointment to office in the county to the board of supervisors and to the county officers as the case may be, but if more than one applicant be recommended for the same office or position, such recommendations shall be designated as first, second, choice, etc. It is understood that all recommendations by a party committee are for the purpose of assistance and advice, not dictation, but it is also understood that any officer elected or appointed as a Democrat is not honorably discharged if he refuses or ignores the advice and assistance of the proper committee. If the recommendations are not satisfactory to the appointing board of officer further recommendations should be called for.

Plans to Purge Party.

Any officer, elected or appointed as a Democrat, who willfully refuses, neglects or ignores the advice and assistance of the proper committee in making appointments when such advice has been considered at a committee meeting, adopted, entered of record, and a duly certified copy of such record properly attested by signature of the chairman and secretary

PROF. SCOTT, IN JAPAN, RECEIVES MEDAL OF HONOR

Imperial Educational Society Presents Educator With Decoration in Recognition

By RILEY H. ALLEN.
(Staff Correspondence.)

TOKIO, Japan, April 25.—Prof. M. M. Scott of Honolulu has been highly honored again and again during his visit to Japan after an absence of 33 years, and this week there came to him the formal recognition of sterling merit at the hands of his brother educators of Japan.

At a notable gathering at the high normal school of Tokyo on Thursday afternoon, Prof. Scott was presented with the medal of honor of the Imperial Educational Society of Japan. The medal, a large, handsomely embossed coin-shaped decoration of pure gold, was presented to Mr. Scott during the course of exercises at the school before its assembled pupils and scores of men who have won first rank in Japan in education or allied lines. Professor Scott, in an address that was one of the features of the occasion, reviewed briefly the progress of education in Japan for the last 43 years and spoke earnestly to the pupils of the school upon the fostering of close relations between Japan and the United States.

The medal of honor was given Prof. Scott because of his long services to education and particularly because he founded Japan's present normal school system 40 years ago.

In addition to the medal for Prof. Scott, the occasion brought forth remembrances for Mrs. Scott. She was presented with two handsome silver vases, a lacquered cabinet and a beautiful jewel-case.

Baron Tsuji, president of the Imperial Educational Society, presided.

Newest Son-in-law of President Will Annex Fine Berth

According to a report which reached here with the arrival of the U. S. transport Sherman, William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, member of public buildings commission, member Smithsonian institute, etc., etc., incidentally son-in-law to President Woodrow Wilson, will shortly add another title to the many which he now enjoys or has enjoyed.

Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary William G. McAdoo, with residence in Gay Pasha, is on the cards for the male participant in the most recent White House wedding.

That papa-in-law, the president, intends to take good care of William Gibbs, comes as inside information and was imparted this morning by one who claims to have excellent authority for the statement.

JAPANESE COFFEE GROWERS OF KONA HONOR PRESIDENT

Send Shipment of Product to Executive as Thanks for American Protection

Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, soon will be given an opportunity to sample the best grade of Hawaiian coffee grown in Kona.

At the same time the shipment is sent to the chief executive, several pounds will be forwarded to the household department of the Japanese government.

The Japanese coffee planters of Kona recently organized an association known as Sekisui Kwa, the object of which, according to T. Shibayama, president of the association, is to realize the merit of the protection given by the United States government to the Japanese residents of the territory, and by stimulating the realization, to encourage the development of coffee cultivation, which recently has become to be recognized as one of the leading industries of the territory.

An announcement issued by the association, and recently published in the Hawaii Hochi, the local Japanese afternoon newspaper, is as follows: "It is already two decades since we began to take up residence in Kona and to start the cultivation of coffee. Its development in recent years has been remarkable, and, as a result, coffee has become second on the list of important productions in the territory. And while Kona coffee is gaining more and more favorable reputation on account of its flavor, on the other hand our social and economical standards are daily advancing.

"Although this state of prosperity is mainly attributed by us to each other's strenuous effort and diligence, still, to attain this state of success under the flag of a foreign government without any hindrance, hardly would have been possible had we not been favored with the graceful protection of the United States. In realizing this, and in order to represent our thankfulness, we have joined to present our own product to the president of the United States and beg for his most esteemed acceptance. When it is accepted, we believe it will be a new impetus for the further development of the industry."

The coffee already has been shipped to Honolulu and soon will be forwarded to the president at Washington.

GRAND JURY PLANS TO TAKE HAND IN M'CARN-M'BRIDE CASE

Unless a special prosecutor appears on the scene within one week from now, or the federal grand jury takes up the McCarn-McBride matter, the territorial grand jury will begin to act next Wednesday afternoon. This version of the status of the case comes from official sources, and it would seem to be the correct dope on what is to happen.

South American Rulers Whose Mediation Offer Was Accepted by Woodrow Wilson

TEXT OF MEDIATION OFFER AND MESSAGE OF ITS ACCEPTANCE

The text of the offer for mediation in Mexico made by Brazil, Argentina and Chile was as follows:

Mr. Secretary of State—With the purpose of subverting the interests of peace and civilization in our continent and with the earnest desire to prevent further bloodshed to the prejudice of the cordiality and union which have always surrounded the relations of the governments and the peoples of America, we, the plenipotentiaries of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, duly authorized hereto, have the honor to tender to Your Excellency's government our good offices for the peaceful and friendly settlement of the conflict between the United States and Mexico.

This offer puts in due form the suggestions which we have had occasion to offer heretofore on this subject to the secretary, to whom we renew the assurances of our highest and most distinguished consideration.

D. DA GAMA,
R. S. NAON,
EDUARDO SUAREZ MUJICA.

The reply of the president accepting the offer made through the secretary of state to each diplomat was as follows:

"The government of the United States is deeply confident of the friendliness, the good feeling, and the generous concern for the peace and welfare of America manifested in the joint note just received from Your Excellencies tendering the good offices of your government to effect if possible a settlement of the present difficulty between the government of the United States and those who now claim to represent our sister republic of Mexico.

Conscious of the purpose with which the proffer is made this government does not feel at liberty to decline it. Its chief interest is in the peace of America, the cordial intercourse of her republics and her people, and the happiness and prosperity which can spring only out of frank, mutual understanding and the friendship which is created by common purpose. The generous offer of your government is therefore accepted.

This government hopes most earnestly that you may find those who speak for the several elements of the Mexican people willing and ready to discuss terms of satisfactory, and therefore permanent, settlement. If you should find them willing this government will be glad to take up with you for discussion in the frankest and most conciliatory spirit any proposals that may be authoritatively formulated, and will hope that they may prove feasible and prophetic of a new day of mutual co-operation and confidence in America.

This government feels bound, in candor, to say that its diplomatic relations with Mexico being for the present severed, it is not possible for it to make sure of an uninterrupted opportunity to carry out the plan of intermediation which you propose.

It is, of course, possible that some act of aggression on the part of those who control the military forces of Mexico might oblige the United States to act to the upsetting of the hopes of immediate peace, but this does not justify us in hesitating to accept your generous suggestion.

We shall hope for the best results within a time brief enough to relieve our anxiety lest ill-considered hostile demonstrations should interrupt negotiations and disappoint our hopes of peace.

STARVING, RUSSIAN IS TAKEN CARE OF BY THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Weak from the lack of nourishment, and exhausted as the result of wandering for three days and nights about the streets of Honolulu, a Russian, about 24 years old, one of the unemployed, wandered into the office of the Associated Charities this morning and pleaded with the manager and his assistants to give him something to eat and a place where he might sleep for a few hours. The man was fed, given a bath and clean clothes, and put to bed.

"We have had many similar cases," said Manager Spencer Brown, "but none have been quite so pitiful or called for such immediate attention. The man is strong and quite willing to work, but he can find nothing to do. He lately secured several temporary jobs, but they did not last long. He informed me that he had been put out of his tenement room, as he had no money to pay rent. For three days and nights, he said, he had wandered about the streets, with no place to sleep and nothing to eat. He told me that he had attempted to go to sleep on park benches, but that the police had each time driven him away. When he came to the office this morning he was in a complete state of exhaustion. His story was plainly told and rings true."

Manager Bowen said that the man will be taken care of, and that the office will endeavor to secure employment, as he is both healthy and strong, and expressed a desire to go to work.

forwarded to Washington have been kept secret, and none of those vitally interested in the messages will give out anything in connection with them. That some wire-pulling is going on is the opinion of many, and much curiosity is felt. One federal official admitted this morning that there were stirring times coming in his department, but, in answer to a question requesting something more definite, replied that he dared not give out any story at present. It has been said that an investigator is now on his way from Washington, and that the whole McCarn-McBride matter will be taken up when the special agent arrives in Honolulu.

M'BRIDE FINED BUT ALLOWED TO SETTLE WITH AN APOLOGY

Judge Clemens fined Attorney Claudius McBride $25 for contempt of court this morning. Instantly afterwards the judge accepted McBride's apology and remitted the fine. The incident caused a mild sensation in the federal court room.

The action of the judge was very sudden. McBride was cross-examining Willie Silva, a witness in the Sylvester case. The attorney fired rapid questions at the witness and, once or twice, had a second question on the road before the other one was answered. Judge Clemens ordered McBride to stop, but the attorney misunderstood or did not hear the judge, who said: "You are fined twenty-five dollars for contempt of court, Mr. McBride."

McBride at once assured the court that he had meant no contempt of court and that he had not understood the warning of the judge. The court then rescinded the order imposing the fine and everything went on smoothly again.

The Sylvester trial is dragging along slowly. District Attorney McCarn introduced more witnesses in rebuttal this morning, and they testified as to the character of Florida Freitas, about whom the case revolves. The witnesses all said the girl is a good, modest, decent young person.

This afternoon it is expected that all the witnesses will be through and that the attorneys will then start their arguments.

Mellen Tells of Methods of Reaching Influential Men

[Associated Press Cable]
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—Charles Sanger Mellen, former president of the N. Y. N. H. & H. railroad company, was a witness before the interstate commerce commission this morning, in its probe into the financial relations of the New Haven and the Billard company.

Mellen explained to the commission the methods employed in obtaining subsidies and reaching influential persons.

John Hall McKay, Mellen's private counsel, who is badly wanted as a witness by Chief Counsel Joseph Folk, is believed to have made a hurried trip abroad, to avoid appearing before the commission.

Goethals Expects to Open Panama Canal During Week

[Associated Press Cable]
WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—The use of barges of the Panama railroad company as a means of moving the first waterborne traffic through the Panama canal is being urged upon Col. Geo. W.
